Fire Routs 80 Guests From Hotel In Mount Vernon

JUMP, SLIDE DOWN SHEETS TO GET AWAY

No Serious Injuries Reported in Blaze; Mansfield Firemen on Hand.

MT. VERNON—(AP)—An early morning fire routed 80 guests from the Curtis hotel in the center of this city's business district today. No serious injuries were reported.

Some guests suffered burns and cuts fleeing the 75-year-old five-story structure, but hospital attaches said none was believed critically hurt.

The fire, of unknown origin, was confined to the two top stories and was brought under control after a two-hour fight by local firemen assisted by firefighters from Newark.

The hotel's night clerk, John Stokes, said he ran through the hallways shouting "fire," and that he believed all of the guests managed to escape.

Leaps to Safety.

Most occupants made their way to safety through smoke-filled halls. Others jumped from lower story windows and some slid to safety down tied-together bed sheets.

Most seriously injured was John Shick, 52, of Chicago. Mercy hospital attendants said he was "badly burned about the hands and feet."

Mrs. Cleo Holmes, a hotel employe, injured her feet in leaping to safety from a second-story window.

Suffering cuts and burns were: John Kime, 53, of Mount Vernon, B. C. Brillhart, 60, of Coshocton and Bernice Goodchild, 20, of Columbus.

Vernon Ritter, Mount Vernon insurance salesman, said he was

Ladder Stays, But Chief Goes

Although Mansfield was unable to send its only aerial ladder to help fight the Mt. Vernon hotel blaze, four Mansfield firemen, including Fire Chief L. J. Steele, hurried to the scene.

The Mt. Vernon fire department had asked the city to send its 85-foot ladder but Steele pointed out that because it was the only one Mansfield had the city's safety could not be jeopardized by sending it out of town.

Accompanying Steele to the fire were Firemen Chester Ramsey, Clarence Donnan and Harold George.

FLEE CANADA

Two Soviet Officials Missing From Embassy.

OTTAWA —(INS)— Two more ranking Soviet officials are missing today from the Russian embassy at Ottawa following publication of the royal investigating commission report on Soviet espionage in Canada.

Ivan Krotov, listed by the commission as a Russian undercover agent, and Lieut. Vitali Pavlov, named as head of the Russian secret police operating in Canada, are reported to have left the Canadian capital hurriedly.

Departure of Krotov and Pavlov is believed to have completed the exodus of 17 embassy officials and employes named in the official charges.

Claims Prisoners Held as 'Slaves'

LONDON—(INS)—A charge by laborite Richard Stokes that Britain is making about 12 million dollars weekly from the slave labor of German prisoners of war reverberated today in the house of commons.

Stokes declared that 500,000 prisoners are being held in British camps in Britain and on the continent in violation of the Geneva convention.

PICKET MOVIE HOUSES

PORTSMOUTH - (INS) - CIO pickets marched in front of three downtown Portsmouth movie houses operated by Warner Brothers today but the theaters continued operations.

Mercury's on Way Up, Water On Way Down

Officials Ask Users to Go Easy as New Heat Wave Looms.

Although Mansfield's hitherto critical water situation was a little brighter today, city officials still urged private and industrial users to "go easy" as the mercury again headed for higher brackets.

Reaching 80 degrees at noon today, the temperature is to continue to climb and will probably hit the high 80's by tomorrow, the weatherman said.

Recent cooler weather and the fact that residents and industries have heeded the "go easy" request of the city has resulted in a somewhat improved water situation here, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said today.

* * *

WATER CONSUMPTION STILL ABOVE NORMAL.

He added, however, that the city's daily use still tops the five million gallon mark—about a million above normal—and that water should be used as conservatively as possible.

Yesterday the temperature reached a high of 77 degrees in Mansfield and last night slipped to a low of 53 degrees.

On a state-wide basis weather bureau forecasters predicted generally fair conditions with rising temperature for today and tomorrow.

A considerable deficiency in rainfall over the state in the past two weeks was pointed out by the weather bureau's weekly crop bulletin issued in Columbus.

The report stated that numerous eastern counties have been without adequate rainfall for nearly a month and that corn, potatoes and other crops were being affected. Pastures, particularly, were badly in need of rain.

High and low temperatures at various points for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. today were:

Akron 81-53; Archbold 78-47; Cherry Fork 81-54; Chesapeake 86-61; Cincinnati 83-55; Cleveland 77-49; Columbus 83-54; Dayton 83-56; East Liverpool 80-48; Findlay 80-48; Hayesville 77-53; Parkersburg, W. Va., 85-61; Perry 75-47; Toledo 76-48; Wilmington 87-55; Youngstown 80-54, and Zanesville 82-52.

Romance of Prison Camp Reaches End

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Love which blossomed in Germany's notorious Buchenwald camp wilted today in Cleveland.

This was disclosed in a divorce petition filed by ex-Sergeant Frank J. Kraker, 28, holder of the Silver Star, who charged his Polish wife, the former Cecylia Lanska, 21, and Buchenwald inmate, with cruelty and neglect of duty.

Kraker, who was with General Patton's Third army in its drive into Germany, practically moved "heaven and earth" to be reunited with Cecylia when he was discharged.

He finally returned to Germany and married the Polish refugee last Nov. 15 at Miltonberg, Germany. It was months before the couple managed to get past all the red tape and come to Cleveland to "live happily ever after."

But the story book ending lasted only a short time. The couple consulted an attorney and they agreed to the divorce.

Kraker told the attorney that Cecylia got on his nerves by translating aloud from a Polish language newspaper.

The complaint seems strange to both parties now as they recall those days at Buchenwald when Kraker, the dashing tank commander, held Cecylia's pale, thin hand and love was the only language that mattered.

SETS GLIDER RECORD

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A new distance record for gliders in Ohio was claimed today by Paul Souder, of Columbus, who sailed his motorless plane from Columbus to Dayton in three hours. Souder was towed to 1,800 feet altitude before casting off on his 54-mile flight.

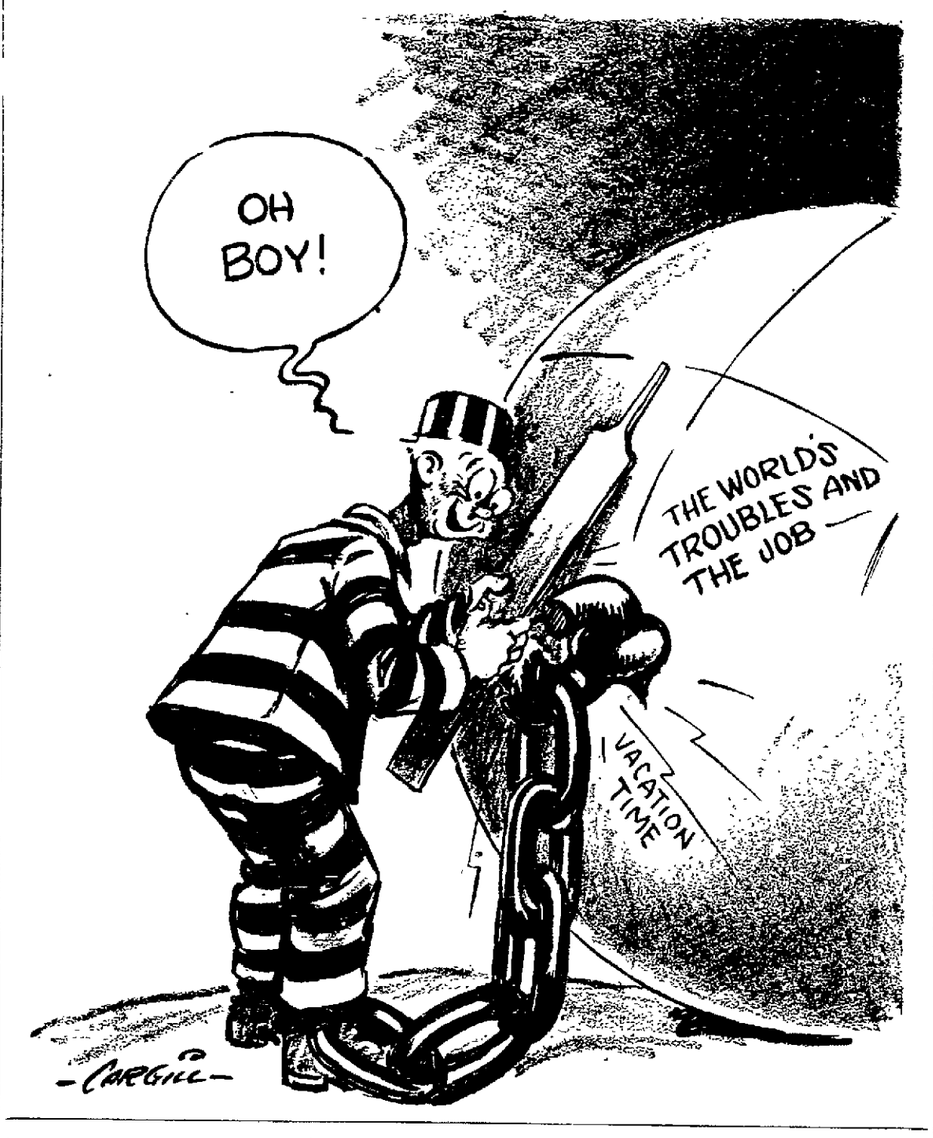
The Fifth Freedom



WHITEHEAD SAYS HE'S INNOCENT

Pleads Not Guilty to Knife Slaying at Loudonville; Trial Set For July 30.

ASHLAND — Millard Whitehead, 40, defendant in the knife-slaying of Carl Norris July 9 in a Pennsylvania railroad car camp in Loudonville, entered a plea of not guilty today to an indictment for manslaughter.

Whitehead's trial has been tentatively set for July 30. Defense attorney, Myron Oliver of Loudonville, was reported as having asked for a tentative date because of a planned trip to Kentucky, the defendant's home state.

In a preliminary hearing before Mayor Edward L. Smith of Loudonville on July 9, Whitehead confessed that he had slashed Norris, 39-year-old fellow worker, also of Kentucky, with a 10-inch bladed hunting knife in a fight. Norris died en route to Mansfield General hospital from loss of blood.

Several section workers, witnesses to the knifing appeared Monday at the grand jury hearing. All were transferred to a Cleveland railroad camp shortly after the incident.

Whitehead is being held in the Ashland county jail under $2,000 bond.

MAYOR WINS

Voters Refuse to Throw Out San Francisco Executive.

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Mayor Roger Lapham won a resounding vote of confidence today as voters rejected a recall motion and elected to keep him in office for the remaining 18 months of his four-year term.

Complete returns from the city's 1,193 precincts showed 105,712 voters opposing the recall and 73,673 in favor of it.

So You Want A Car?-- Well, Maybe In 1947

Auto Firm Officials Warn Famine Will Continue For Another 12 to 15 Months.

DETROIT—(UP)—A shortage of steel and other key supplies was blamed today for the lag in automobile production and two officials of the Ford Motor company warned that the famine in cars will continue for another 12 to 15 months before full production is reached.

Despite the fact that nearly a year has elapsed since the end of the war, the automobile industry is producing at only 50 per cent of capacity, John R. Davis, Ford vice president in charge of sales, and M. L. Bricker, vice president in charge of manufacturing, reported. The Ford Motor company, which has a daily capacity of 6,000 units, is producing only 3,200, they said.

Material shortages, principally steel, would hold Ford and other companies to levels not much above the current output far into 1947, Bricker said. However, he added, a slight improvement in production is anticipated.

The industry is enjoying the greatest market in its history and will be able to sell without difficulty all the cars and commercial vehicles it can make for the next two years, Davis said.

The present market for cars and trucks is about 15,000,000 to 16,000,000, Davis estimated, while production capacity is between 5,600,000 and 6,000,000 units annually.

"All this talk about the dream car with plastic bodies and other great innovations should be debunked," he said. "Such innovations are several years away."

FIREMEN SAVE CATTLE

RAISE WAGES

Carpenters to Get $1.63½ An Hour Tomorrow.

Mansfield carpenters on the job tomorrow will make an additional 18½ cents per hour as the result of an increase in wages accepted recently by the War Labor board.

Thomas Geddes, secretary of Carpenters Local No. 735, said today that all contractors have been notified of the increase in journeyman carpenters' wages from $1.45 to $1.63½ per hour, which takes tomorrow.

Wages of members of Labor Local No. 1216 have also been increased from 90 cents to $1.04 per hour for common labor, a spokesman for the organization said today.

Yugoslavs Protest Trieste Decision

BELGRADE — (INS)— More than ten thousand Yugoslavs demonstrated in Belgrade's Central Square today to protest the Big Four decision to internationalize Trieste.

The demonstrators carried banners and chanted the slogan: "down with the decisions of the Paris conference. Our lives we will give, but not Trieste."

Police Chief Conducts Secret Probe of Ashland's Mysterious 'Bird Massacre'

Ashland Chief of Police, Harry Smith today was conducting a secret investigation on the mysterious death of over 60 starlings, robins and sparrows, found dead in the Twelfth street area during the past week.

Chief Smith said that the birds had not been shot, but refused to report on autopsies performed on several of the birds. He said that he expects to make a report on the death of the birds the first of next week.

Local residents said they suspect poisoning of the birds by somebody who wants to get rid of starlings that infest the Twelfth street vicinity. The chief refused to comment upon the possibility of poisoning.

Unlike the recent poisoning of over 100 pets in Circleville, the cause of the birds' death had not affected domestic pets in Ashland. The first group of birds, numbering 55, were found a week ago within the space of two lots on the street. The next group, found Monday of this week, numbered seven. Witnesses said most of the birds victimized were starlings, but that robins and sparrows had also been found among the dead birds.

LINKS BARKLEY TO MUNITIONS PROFITS PROBE

'Paper' Arms Combine Secretary Tells of Calls From Senate Leader.

WASHINGTON — (AP)— An attractive, red-haired former secretary of a midwest munitions combine testified today that Rep. May (D-Ky) called its Washington office "two or three times" a week and that Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (D-Ky) had telephoned on "several occasions."

This testimony marked the first time that Barkley's name has entered public hearings of the senate war investigating committee inquiring into the wartime operations of the munitions group. The witness was Mrs. Jean Bates, secretary at the group's Washington office from April 1945 until June of 1946.

She told the committee, in response of questions, that several high ranking army officers also had telephoned the office, among them two identified in her testimony only as General Waite and General Porter.

She told the committee that among her superiors were Joseph Freeman, Louis Sarelas and Murray Garsson. She testified that they had phoned May's office "several times a week."

May is chairman of the house military committee.

Before Miss Bates took the stand, Albert Jacobson, a war department consultant, protested to the committee that he had been humiliated and maligned in the course of the committee hearings.

Jacobson, consultant in the legal division of the Chemical Warfare service, rose to that position from his 1939 job as a clerk-typist. He went to the department after resigning from the District of Columbia bar under what he described as "pressure".

CIO WEIGHS BUYER STRIKE

Local Unions to Learn Policy at Weekend Session; 4 Cities Scenes of Mass Meetings.

Mansfield's CIO organizations will decide this weekend on what steps they will take in a meat buyers' strike, projected by the CIO United Auto Workers, following anti-inflation mass meetings yesterday in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Toledo.

J. F. Vejlupek, district secretary and treasurer of United Electrical Workers, said today that the policy to be followed by Mansfield CIO will be outlined Saturday and Sunday at a district council meeting in Columbus.

"We are in complete sympathy with this attempt by the auto workers to stop inflation and to bring OPA back," Vejlupek said.

The "strike," which started today among 800,000 auto workers is scheduled to last seven days, news dispatches said.

In Detroit an estimated 20,000 to 30,000 Chrysler workers left their jobs temporarily, cutting production.

Richard T. Leonard, UAW vice president, said wage contracts "must be open for renegotiation if price control is open for destruction." He addressed the rally in Detroit.

Wages of scores of thousands of auto workers are frozen under contracts which do not permit reopening of wage discussions until 1947.

Slot Machines Out Of Sight In Raid

COLUMBUS —(INS)— State liquor enforcement officers charged today that slot machines mysteriously disappeared from 21 Trumbull county taverns shortly before liquor agents moved in for a raid.

Enforcement Chief Frank W. Kleinfelder declared that citations would be filed against the 21 cafes in "due time," nevertheless.

OPA FILES SUIT

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Although its authority has lapsed, the OPA filed suit in federal court yesterday asking treble damages against a Meadville, Pa., furniture firm for violation of price ceilings.

Fines Mama For Pistol Packin'

CHICAGO — (INS) —The meat shortage may have been hard on a housewife's temper but a Chicago court ruled it does not call for gun-play.

Mrs. Josephine Giunta, 41, knew this today and her experience cost her a $100 fine.

Mrs. Giunta appeared before Judge Jay M. Braude in women's court yesterday charged with threatening Fred Pratt, manager of a Swift and company branch store, with a gun because he told her he didn't have any meat to sell her.

THINK HEIRENS READY TO GIVE CRIME DETAILS

Written Confessions Sought in Degnan Case, Two Other Chicago Murders.

CHICAGO—(UP)—William Heirens, 17, was reported today to be ready to give a full and complete confession to three of the nation's most shocking crimes—including the premeditated kidnap-slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan.

It was understood that an agreement had been reached between the state's attorneys' office and defense counsel whereby Heirens would confess the three murders in return for a recommendation by the state for a life sentence, instead of the electric chair.

The understanding, details of which were mapped out at an extraordinary conference last Sunday between defense attorneys and State's Attorney William J. Tuohy, reportedly had been held up by Tuohy's insistence that the 17-year-old college youth be imprisoned for the rest of his "natural" life.

Under a sentence of life imprisonment, a prisoner is eligible for parole in 30 years, according to Illinois law. As the agreement was finally worked out, it was understood that defense attorneys had agreed to a sentence of life imprisonment for the slayings and an additional sentence of 99 years for the burglaries with which Heirens is charged—thus, assuring that he will die in prison.

The confessions, originally scheduled to be taken today and tomorrow, were not expected now for two or three more days because of "publicity" connected with the case.

DRAFTS BILL

Governor Calls Conference to Study Rent Control.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A proposed state rent control law drafted by the attorney general was to be studied here today at a conference of state officials and OPA representatives called by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Lausche called the meeting to decide upon the method of state control of rents which would be recommended to the state legislature if congress does not act this week to put the lid back on rents.

Hold 20 for Theft Of Mussolini Body

FLORENCE, Italy (UP) Twenty persons, including six women were reported under arrest today in connection with the theft of Benito Mussolini's bones from a pauper's grave in Milan in April.

Police said several of the prisoners admitted taking part in the grave robbery. They said it was done in order to "give the duce's remains a worthy burial," an officer reported. Nothing was learned regarding the present whereabouts of the body.

AMBUSH SOLDIERS

GORIZIA, Italy — (INS) — One American soldier was killed and two others injured today when the jeep in which they were driving was ambushed 14 miles south of Gorizia at Lago di Doberdo. The wounded men, Lieut. William T. Van Atten, of New Jersey, and Pvt. Jack Kinman of New York City, were rushed immediately to the U. S. 88th division's hospital at Udine. Division headquarters said the driver of the jeep, Walter L. Kugawa was killed.

FINDS REDIN INNOCENT ON ALL COUNTS

Federal Jurors Give Soviet Officer Full Acquittal After Long Parley.

SEATTLE — (INS) — Lt. Nicolai G. Redin of the Soviet navy was acquitted today on all five counts of espionage and conspiracy against the United States.

The federal jury deliberated eight and a half hours before announcing that it had reached a verdict.

The 30-year-old Soviet naval officer could have been sentenced to 60 years in prison or fined $40,000, or both, had he been found guilty of all five charges against him.

Judge Lloyd L. Black earlier ruled out the death penalty, because the United States is not actively fighting now. Lawyers said the death penalty could have been imposed on a conspiracy count in the indictment against Redin.

* * *

Began Last Night.

The jury deliberated from 1:18 to 10:25 (PST) last night, with a break of an hour and a half for the evening meal. At 10:25 the jury members asked to retire for the night.

Lt. Redin joined a poker game with newspapermen awaiting the verdict, but his mind was not in the game and he lost.

One of the jury's first decisions after filing out of the court room was to get a record player for a performance of FBI-recorded conversations between Redin and Herbert Kennedy, the star prosecution witness. Kennedy's home was wired so that the FBI could make the records.

The transcriptions were counted as one exhibit among 60 taken to the jury room.

Redin was accused of obtaining information on the destroyer tender Yellowstone, seeking information on radar and gunfire control and conspiring to get the results to Russia.

Westbrook Pegler . . .

NEW YORK—Now that the danger has passed and now that a force of American soldiers of Japanese parentage or race have returned from the war with honors, professional political promoters of racial and religious friction who profess to abhor prejudice are exploiting as an act of Hitlerism our mass deportation of about 100,000 American Japanese from the Pacific coast to concentration camps inland in 1942. These people were held in compounds throughout 1943 and were gradually dispersed thereafter, some finding new homes away from the coast and others being deported to Japan as enemy aliens. The rest returning whence they came.

* * *

In the current propaganda it would appear that some American authority of fascist mentality committed this outrage contrary to the sense of the nation and the government.

* * *

The exclusion and deportation were ordered in emergency by Lt. Gen. J. J. DeWitt, commander of the western defense under an Act of Congress, signed by Franklin D Roosevelt and upheld by the supreme court in an opinion by Justice Black. Justice Frankfurter filed a separate opinion, concurring but excused himself by saying that although he found no constitutional forbiddance this did not necessarily mean that he approved the act itself or an executive order by President Roosevelt upon which General DeWitt further relied for his authority.

There is now an illusion that an overwhelming majority of the deportees were known to be loyal to the United States. This is a by-product of victory. As far as General DeWitt could tell, all but a few could reasonably be suspected of devotion to Japan and the emperor. The white Americans were almost unanimously apprehensive and suspicious and some of them might have mobbed Japanese settlements if they had not been taken away, thus bringing down reprisals on Americans in Japanese captivity.

The term "Japanese" he is a broad one, including loyal native Americans as well as disloyal Americans and unnaturalized natives of Japan.

* * *

The impression now being promoted that the majority were obviously patriotic to the United States is false. Early in 1943 the young men of the class known as Kibei, native Americans educated in Japan, were invited to volunteer for the American army and most of them refused to foreswear allegiance to the emperor.

* * *

They may have been afraid that if they did so their relatives in Japan would be punished but there was no way to determine what their reasons were. Later, some were drafted and thus relieved of the responsibility of decision. How many, and how well they served I never learned. Native Americans who had never seen Japan volunteered in larger numbers but in no great mass, either. The military records of those who did join the American forces, volunteers and draftees, was far superior to those of some other units of men of distinct racial identity.

In fairness, it must be noted that these young Japanese were under no greater obligation than Caucasians to volunteer and, further in their favor, it must be remembered that they had reason to feel very bitter against the United States. The parents of many had lost property values in farms, machinery shops and stores which they had to abandon suddenly and they realized that Caucasian neighbors on the coast had been alert to the chance to acquire their holdings at distress prices. They and their relatives lived in crowded long houses in the desert, humiliated, suspected and surrounded by wire, with M. P.'s in American uniforms at the gates. The invitation to put on the same uniform was ironic to many of them.

It is not unreasonable to reflect that if Japan had invaded the Pacific coast and had won the war many of those who have lately shown loyalty to the United States would have greeted the conquerors and shown them around the American defenses. Japanese are human, and it would be naive to reject the possibility that some of them who now bask in the warmth of the new cordiality, kindled by victory and confidence among us, are not just following the band-wagon.

* * *

However, American justice is so fastidious that any proposal to indemnify the loyal Japanese in their losses of property and wages during their imprisonment will be adopted with a whoop of spiritual satisfaction.

* * *

It seems that we shot a man because we thought he made a pass to draw a gun and then found that he was only reaching for his wallet to show us his driver's license.

So let us buy him a wooden leg and be friends. I don't know any other people who would.

Hal Boyle . . .

BERLIN—(AP)—The Irish combat soldier who bosses the American garrison in this showwindow of Allied occupation considers relations between the four powers in Berlin "very satisfactory."

Major General Frank A. Keating also reports that the army's "spit and polish" campaign has sharpened up occupation troops, but that results would be even better if the soldiers were more mature.

The red-faced curly-haired commander, who began his army career as an enlisted man, came to his present administrative post after winning a name for himself as an expert on amphibious warfare and leader of Doughboys in the field.

"Contrary to the general belief," he said, "the relations between the four powers in the Kommandatura in Berlin are very satisfactory. A friendly spirit prevails at all meetings, notwithstanding that we very frequently do not see eye to eye on all issues.

Keating said there was no question but that the army's tighter discipline is producing results.

"The venereal rate in Berlin is gradually dropping, and at the present time is below the theater average level. Our misdemeanor and felony rate has dropped to a very low ebb.

"Isolated cases, however, are still reported. It is hard for me to understand why any soldier will without provocation assault a civilian, male or female, but they do.

"I am of the opinion that misconduct along this line has caused certain retaliatory measures to be taken by the Germans.

"The assaults on troops are usually due to an argument between two nations, or the cause arises in jealousy of German males over fraternization."

Keating added that many of the men in the European theater are young and just out of school, and haven't attained proper standards.

TAX COLLECTION SCORES BIGGEST DAY TUESDAY

New Property Owners Warned of Delinquency; They Don't Get Notices.

Biggest day for the county treasurer's office in the current tax collection period was tallied yesterday when nearly $45,000 passed in through the windows.

With the deadline for paying last-half 1945 real estate taxes set for Saturday, total collections to date amounted to $532,063.14. Actual amount payed in yesterday was $44,955.06.

"Many people who have purchased property during the last year are going to be delinquent after the deadline next Saturday, because they are expecting to receive a statement from us before they come in," County Treasurer Charles C. Payne reported today. "But they'll get none."

* * *

Issues Warning.

"Those persons who have bought real estate during the last year and who have not received a statement of their taxes due should call the treasurer's office to learn the tax due on the property purchased," Payne advised.

"If not payed by the Saturday deadline the taxes will be listed as delinquent and the penalty charge will be added to the taxes due," Payne said.

The treasurer's office will be open Saturday afternoon to enable late comers to make their payments.

TWO FINED IN CITY COURT

Traffic Cases Predominate on Slim Municipal Docket Today.

Two persons were fined a total of $20 and costs on traffic charges today in municipal court while one other was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail on an assault and battery charge.

'INSPECTION' THWARTED.

Publicity pays—and then sometimes it doesn't. Anyway, yesterday, not long after the N-J announced the installation of the police department's new radio antenna high atop Woodland reservoir tower, a group of boys decided to make a personal "inspection" of the antenna. They were "caught in the act," first by Police Chief Meade K. Bates, who ordered them down and, then, by a group of three other officers who likewise pointed out the dangers and ordered them "grounded."

Boys will be boys, officers admitted, but insisted that the best place to view the new 117-foot high antenna is from the ground. Scaling the tower for a "birds' eye" view is unsafe, they reminded.

All three bridges were affected by the successive cloudbursts several weeks ago, which flooded Mansfield basements and damaged city streets.

DECISION WILL KNOCK OUT TAX IN YOUNGSTOWN

Ohio Supreme Court Limits Power to State; Applies to All Cities.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Municipal taxes on gas, electricity, telephone and water bills were ruled unconstitutional today by the state supreme court.

The decision affected directly the two and a half per cent Youngstown service tax but will be applicable to all other cities. The vote was unanimous.

The supreme court held that a state tax based on gross receipts of utilities companies constituted a preemption in the field of taxation of receipts from natural gas, electricity, water and telephone service and equipment furnished, and thereby excluded municipalities from that field.

Limits City Power.

The court pointed to the constitutional provision that "law may be passed to limit the power of municipalities to levy taxes," and said the limitation may come either in the form of an expressed statutory provision or by implication, as where the state pre-empts the field. In either case, the supreme court held, the municipality loses its right to tax.

The present suit was brought by Raymond E. Holcomb, Lewis Kroeck and Romulus G. Vasu, who as taxpayers filed an injunction in the Mahoning county common pleas court to prevent collection of the Youngstown tax.

The tax on gas, electricity, telephone and water bills was imposed by the Youngstown city council Feb. 19, 1945, and was made effective immediately as an emergency measure.

The common pleas court upheld the validity of the tax and the judgment was affirmed by the seventh district appellate court before the supreme court reversed.

CHETNIK CHIEF DIES AT DAWN

Mihailovic, Eight Others Shot Down By Firing Squad After Convictions.

BELGRADE (AP)—Gen. Draja Mihailovic, once acclaimed by the Allied world as the organizer of the Yugoslav resistance movement, died before a firing squad at dawn today less than 48 hours after his conviction on charges of treason and collaboration with the Germans.

Eight other men who were convicted with the former Chetnik leader were executed at the same time.

The executions were carried out in a private military ceremony.

The others executed were:

Radoslav-Rade Radic, 5th former Chetnik unit commander.

Milos Glisch, 36, Chetnik leader.

Oskar Pavlovic, 51, former Zagreb chief of police.

Dragi Yovanovic, 44, former chief of police of Belgrade.

Yanasje-Tasa Dinic, 55, former minister of the interior in the puppet government of the late Premier Milan Nedic, who committed suicide last January by leaping from his jail cell.

Velibor Yonic, 54, Medic's minister of education.

Djuro Dokic, 72, former minister of commerce.

Kosta Musicki, 49, former aide-de-camp to King Peter.

Mihailovic and 23 co-defendants were convicted last Monday. He and 10 others were sentenced to death and eight of those sentenced to prison were convicted in absentia.

The presidium of the Yugoslav parliament yesterday rejected appeals for mercy.

THE UNSUSPECTING HELPER

Others use us more or less
Much more often than we guess.

Most people dislike to think that they are being made use of without their knowledge, but so it is. It is because so many things we do affect others without our ever knowing it or even suspecting it. The smart ones among the Green Forest and Green Meadow people know this and by taking advantage of it are constantly making use of others for their own benefit.

Bust Bear was shuffling along the Crooked Little Path bound for nowhere in particular and with nothing in particular on his mind. This was nothing unusual with Buster Bear. He is an aimless sort of person, something of a wonderer who thinks of little but keeping his stomach well filled. As with so large a part of the Great World today food is the most important thing in his life.

He stopped to pull a rotted old stump to pieces. It was a lot of work for the little he got, just three or four grubs and a beetle. But Buster is big and strong and doesn't mind that kind of work. At one side he spied a big mound of sand. "Ants," muttered Buster in his deep, rumbly, grumbly voice, "nice, big, black Ants." He shuffled over to the mound and began licking up the Ants leaving and entering their home in that mound of fine sand. Then he dug into it and they came out in a black mass to find out what was happening to their home. Buster's tongue swept them into his mouth by hundreds.

When not enough remained to pay for the trouble of licking them up he shuffled on along the Crooked Little Path. He saw a Wood Mouse dart into a hole in the ground and at once began digging furiously after him, but finding roots in the way gave up.

"Berries," muttered Buster Bear. Those are what I want now. There should be some in the Old Pasture. I'll go over there and see."

A little farther on he stopped to listen. Buster's ears are not very big ears but they are very good ears. He thought he had heard the rustle of dry leaves on the ground. There it was again. He wasn't mistaken. The rustling of those leaves meant that some one was rustling them as there was no wind to do it.

He looked in that direction suspiciously. He lifted his nose and carefully sniffed. His nose told him nothing at first. Then he smelled a faint odor that he knew well. "Fox," thought Buster. "Perhaps Reddy Fox has caught a dinner and will share it with me."

The young Fox waited for nothing more but took to his black heels.

He left the Crooked Little Path and carefully followed his nose. Big as are his feet he put them down so carefully that they made no sound. Not a twig snapped or dry leaf rustled under them.

Ahead of him he heard the faintest footsteps. His small eyes flowed with eagerness and greed. He moved a little faster but was as careful as ever to make no sound. With a startling roar of stout wings Mrs. Grouse flew up almost in his face and whirred off among the trees.

"Woof, woof!" exclaimed Buster Bear a little way beyond as a young Fox leaped to his feet and stood staring at him in startled surprise.

"Woof, woof!" said Buster again and his voice was very deep and rumbly, grumbly.

The young Fox waited for nothing more but took to his black heels. It was the first time he had seen Buster Bear. He didn't even know that there was such a big, black person. He had no desire to make his acquaintance.

Buster Bear watched him out of sight. He chuckled. "The way he can run is a credit to his father," said he and returned to the Crooked Little Path.

No sooner was he out of sight than Mrs. Crouse was back. "Quit, quit," said she, and out of hiding popped the ten babies and their small legs fairly twinkled as she led them away from there much faster than such small legs were intended to go.

"I made good use of Buster Bear that time but he doesn't know it," chuckled Mrs. Crouse.

The next story: "Reddy Fox explains."

Fluid milk and cream consumption this year in the U. S. is expected by the Department of Agriculture to average about 210 quarts per person.

Part of the all-around player's winning equipment should be a good working knowledge of the more important laws. This is especially pertinent when an opponent has committed an irregularity of a kind which allows you the choice among several penalties. Even knowledge of the law is not enough in such circumstances. The player should also know how to exercise his judgment in the matter of selection so as to produce the outcome which the offense justifies.

What a risky vulnerable overcall by West, who was lucky his opponents didn't have doubling material! He was doubly lucky a moment later. East led the spade Q—out of turn—whereupon South, without hesitation, said: "That gives me the right to call a lead from your partner; lead a diamond."

So West led a diamond and the contract was set, as South had no way to avoid the loss of two tricks in hearts and one in spades.

When East made that lead out of turn, South had a lot of options, as follows: (1) He could condone the lead, (2) he could put three or more of his cards face up on the table, which would make him dummy and North the declarer, (3) he could call that card a penalty card, to be left face-up and played at the first legal opportunity, (4) he could let East pick up the card and compel West to lead a particular suit, which he did, and (5) he could let East pick up the card and forbid the lead of a particular suit by West.

With the spade J marked in East's hand by the Q lead, South would have done better by selecting 1, 2, or 3, in the latter case causing East to play the Q on the A and then finessing against the marked J. In fact, 3 was the wisest, as in the beginning South wasn't sure North had the A, which might have been with West.

New Lilies From Old Scales

By DEAN HALLIDAY

MANY lilies can be increased readily by scales detached from the parent bulb. The bulb of lilies which can be propagated in this way consists of numerous scale leaves.

A bulb of this type should be lifted in early autumn after it has flowered. At that time as many as 20 of the outer scales can be removed for propagating without injury to the old bulb.

A scale from one of these lilies is illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Also illustrated is the method of planting the scales, base down, in a flat filled with sandy soil. The flat should be set in a shady place.

Bulblets will begin to form on each scale in about a month, as illustrated. The growth of the new lily bulb into a plant, shooting out roots and leaf growth is also illustrated.

These new lily bulbs may be transplanted to the soil in late autumn, to go through the winter in a frame, or outside. If planted outside the young plants and bulbs need to be protected with a light mulch over their first winter.

The beautiful white Madonna lily is very easily propagated from scales. As it is one of the first lilies to flower, the scales may be planted while the temperature is naturally still warm.

Another way of propagating certain of the lilies, notably Lily Henryi, is to remove the leaves where they join the stalks and handle them much as if they were true cuttings.

The leaf cuttings should be inserted in sand, using a wooden plant label or other similar convenient tool to make the holes for receiving them. Bulbils will form at their bases.

Tomorrow's Problem.

"Need I say more than she's loads of fun?!"

Atta boy...Have a Coca-Cola

...the friendly pause goes mighty good

When the job's been running heavy, it's a swell idea to refresh with ice-cold Coca-Cola. That's when the words Have a Coke are sweet music. The work comes easier... folks feel friendlier. In offices, factories, and workshops everywhere, the familiar red cooler is a sign of a friendly place to work.

Rookie Slams Home Run as Cards Whip Dodgers

Mansfield high's football team will play one more year in the present stadium beside the school.

By 1947, the Tygers should be able to move into their new lair out on Route 30-N.

When Harold Arlin, president of the high school athletic association, announced yesterday that a contract had been let for the north stands, it was simply another step in the long range plan for constructing the project.

Early this year the grading and most of the tiling was done.

The rapid jump in prices of materials and the cost of labor has made it impossible for the athletic association to go ahead as it would in normal times and build the stadium all at once.

* * *

It will cost the association $65,000 just for the cement stands on the north side. There will be thirty rows of elevated seats with the overall seating capacity being 6,000.

* * *

That doesn't include anything under the stands except the rest rooms. But here the cost of the plumbing under the stands is not included.

Following next fall's grid season, plans will be made to take the west stands from the present field to the new location as a temporary arrangement.

Also presenting the athletic board members with a problem is the locker rooms for both the home and visiting teams. They are to be located in the southern stands. But since the southern stands will be the last to be built—and possibly not for two or three years, a temporary building may be constructed.

* * *

Another plan, according to Arlin, will be to build the permanent locker rooms and then build the south stands over them.

* * *

Also to be located atop the south stands was the press box. Just where they'll get around to placing that will be worked out, Arlin stated.

Reynolds Faces Myers Tonight

Davey Reynolds of Cedar Rapids, Iowa will face Sonny Myers of St. Louis, Mo., in a two out of three fall bout with a one-hour time limit on the outdoor wrestling card at the Armory tonight.

In the opener at 8:30 Juan Hernandez of Mexico City faces Whitey Walberg in what should be a fast bout.

BASKETBALL TOPS

NEW YORK — (AP) — Madison Square Garden, one of the world's most famous sports arenas, found collegiate basketball its biggest sports drawing card during the fiscal year from June 1, 1945 to May 31, 1946 when it played host to a record total of 5,259,544 fans for all events, Garden President Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick revealed today.

TIGERS PRACTICE

Coach Jim Lymper has called a practice for the Mansfield Tigers for tonight at the Fairgrounds starting at 6 o'clock. Tomorrow night the Tigers will play the Mansfield Grays in a twilight tilt at Liberty park starting at 6 o'clock.

Ervin Dusaks Blow In Ninth Brings 5-4 Win

Red Birds Now Only Half-Game Off Pace; Cubs Miss Chance to Climb.

By RALPH RODEN, AP Sports Writer.

Ervin Dusak, virtually unknown rookie outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the fairhaired boy to thousands of fans in St. Louis today.

"Four Sack Dusak" or "The Bohemian Blaster" during his tour of the Cardinal farm system, Dusak hammered what perhaps may become one of the most important blows of the National league pennant race.

The 26-year-old native of Chicago clouted a three-run pinch-hit ninth inning home run to give the Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers and move the Redbirds to within a half game of the Brooks.

Dusak batted for Pitcher Howie Pollet after Southpaw Joe Hatten had nicked Marty Marion with a pitched ball and Clyde Kluttz singled. After fouling off a pitch and taking a called second strike, Dusak crashed Hatten's next offering into the left field stands before 26,591 fans.

The righthanded swinging Dusak broke into organized ball with Monnett of the Arkansas-Missouri league in 1938 and belted 18 homers. He advanced rapidly through the Card system, gaining a reputation as a home-run hitter and in 1941 and 1942 he participated in a few games with Cards. Dusak entered the army in January, 1943, and was discharged in January of this year.

Chicago's third place Cubs missed an opportunity to gain on the Dodgers as Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants blanked them 1-0 on six hits. Bill Rigney singled in the winning run in the ninth frame to keep the Bruins four-and-one-half games off the pace.

* *

The Boston Braves took over undisputed possession of fourth place in the senior circuit by trouncing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-9, behind big Mort Cooper while the Cincinnati Reds were shutout, 2-0, by Schoolboy Rowe of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Cooper allowed the tail-end Pirates seven safeties while Johnny Hopp paced Boston's 14 hit attack with a perfect four-for-four.

Rowe yielded the Red Legs only five hits in outpitching rookie Ewell Blackwell to gain his ninth victory of the season.

The St. Louis Browns retained their fifth place deadlock with Cleveland by trimming the Washington Senators, 7-1.

In the only other contest of the day, portsider Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox limited the Philadelphia Athletics to five safeties in elbowing the Pale Hose to a 6-2 victory.

The New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers were not scheduled.

Morgan Cards 39 at Possum

The Tappan Stove second-shift golf league played its seventh set of matches yesterday morning over the inside nine at Possum Run with Noel Morgan taking honors with a three-over par 39.

Morgan was forced to go three extra holes before he could win from Woody Cline who had a 43.

Nelson Gets Nod Over Hogan In Victory Open Tourney

CHICAGO —(AP)— Blazing Ben Hogan, just like the lowly duffer is having putter trouble and stops a second. Byron Nelson is favored to win the Chicago Victory National golf tournament open at the Beverly Country club.

Hogan got a 69 to Nelson's 71 for a 1946 total of 279. Each fired a 69 in the first round. Nelson's 279 was the best 72-hole score in the tourney's history. Hogan's 279 was the second best.

Nelson, who won the 1945 Victory open at Chicago Country club with a record 72-hole score of 272, is the favorite in Wednesday's 36-hole windup. Hogan is the second choice.

Also in Lord Byron's corral are Buck Shaw of Ft. Worth, Tex., who won the $2,000 Kansas City Invitation, last weekend. Betty Jameson, former women's champion and veteran Chick Harbert, who tied Byron Nelson with a 280 for the prize money.

In the same tourneys in which Hogan was just another swinger—the Columbus, O., and Kansas City outings—Nelson averaged 69 for eight rounds. Little Ben had an average of 71 for the same eight round whirls.

All of which points to a repeat triumph for Nelson in the Victory open which starts Friday following a two day session of 36-hole qualifying for spots in the field. Nelson is favored to win the Chicago Victory National golf tournament open at the Beverly Country club.

Feller Allows Nine Hits In Scoring 16th Victory, 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Cleveland's Indians, fresh from a 6-3 victory over the league-leading Boston Red Sox, open a three-game series with the cellar-dwelling Athletics today.

Allie Reynolds, victor over New York and Detroit in his last two starts, will attempt to win his fifth contest against 10 defeats, while the Athletics will start Luther Kneer, who has won two and lost 10.

Bob Feller, Tribe fire-baller, whipped the Sox on their home lot for the second time yesterday—and he's the only western pitcher who has been able to trim the loop leaders there.

Feller, although touched for nine hits, hurled his 20th complete game, registered his 16th win against six losses, and fanned seven to boost his strike-out total to 202 for 198 innings.

Although the Sox checked for two runs in the last of the ninth, Feller by that time was coasting on a lead built up mainly on a pair of homers by Ken Keltner and another by Pat Seerey.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Tribe again used his right field six-man shift in an attempt to halt the slugging of long Ted Williams but the classy clubber came through with a resounding triple into the well-covered sector in the sixth to drive in the first Red Sox run, and then punched a single to left in the eighth.

Only George Case, left fielder, was on that side of the diamond, and he almost tossed the lanky Philadelphian out at first, but Williams beat the throw for his second hit in five attempts.

Carbetta In Fine Shape

Paul Carbetta, Mansfield's featherweight hope, revealed today that he is in the best physical shape of his ring career.

When he enters the ring down at the Armory Thursday night in the outdoors arena, he'll be ready to go the full 10 rounds against Dick Lewis if the Dayton puncher extends him to the full distance.

This scrap will headline a big five-round card. It will be the second pro show to be staged here this summer by Promoters Rex Reese and Sam Miller.

Dick Alexander, local welterweight star, faces Columbus' top welter, "Hurry" Harry Woods in the six-round semi-final.

Murphy Wins First Round

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Attorneys for the Pittsburgh Pirates today were preparing briefs to show that baseball is not commerce following a hearing in which a state labor relations board examiner ruled that the board has jurisdiction in the case.

Robert Murphy, organizer and director of the American Baseball Guild, won his first round in his long battle to unionize the Pittsburgh National league club.

A ruling on the issue will have far reaching effects for all organized baseball, since the guild already has undertaken to organize other major league clubs.

The question if baseball constitutes commerce was brought up at a state labor board hearing yesterday in Pittsburgh shortly after trial examiner, Conrad H. Checco, ruled the board did have jurisdiction in bargaining negotiations.

Merchants Play Twice Sunday

NEW LONDON — The New London Merchants will face their second double header of the season Sunday, when both Homerville and Creston will be at Recreation park here.

Homerville defeated New London 7-6 in the season opener at Homerville, and is slated to take the field in the first game, starting at 1:30 p. m.

Creston is making its initial appearance on a New London diamond and will take the field in the nightcap.

Winebrenner Also Gives Up Only Four Hits as Barnes Down Harringtons.

Gorman-Rupp and Barnes Manufacturing are staging one of the best softball league pennant fights of any of the YMCA loops.

Last night both marked up their fifth wins against single setbacks in the Industrial league.

Stub Winebrenner hurled his Barnes nine to an 11-3 triumph over the Harrington Aircrafters at Liberty park allowing but four hits.

Jim Fullager turned in a similar performance for Gorman-Rupp at Johns park to gain a 10-0 win over Tappan Stove which is in second place.

Daugherty cracked out a home run, Campbell and Turner collected doubles and Bush banged out a triple to pace the Barnes attack at the plate.

Smith homered for the Aircrafters with Jacot cracking out a three-base blow.

Gorman-Rupps big sticks at the plate were Moxley, Schaeffer and Shade who punched out four-base knocks while Hunt had two singles and a double.

Every G-R player got at least one hit.

In the third game, Mansfield Tire trounced Ideal Electric, 18-11, at North Lake park behind the three-hit tossing of Walters and Windsor.

Walters and Socea homered for Tire while McKee did the same for the losers.

Indians Face AA All-Stars

(By United Press)

Indianapolis faces the American association all-star team today before a sell-out crowd of 15,000 spectators in the eleventh renewal of the mid-season classic.

The Tribesmen enter the game in a first place deadlock by virtue of their defeat of St. Paul last night, 6-1. It was Emerson Roser's first triumph since the Boston Braves sent him to the Indians.

Louisville won an eight-inning contest from Minneapolis, 5-4, to keep within close reach of the leaders.

Toledo and Kansas City battled 15 innings before the Blues eked out victory, 5-4.

Two home runs gave Milwaukee a 4-3 victory over Columbus. Johnny Dickshot tallied the winning marker in the fourth with his homer.

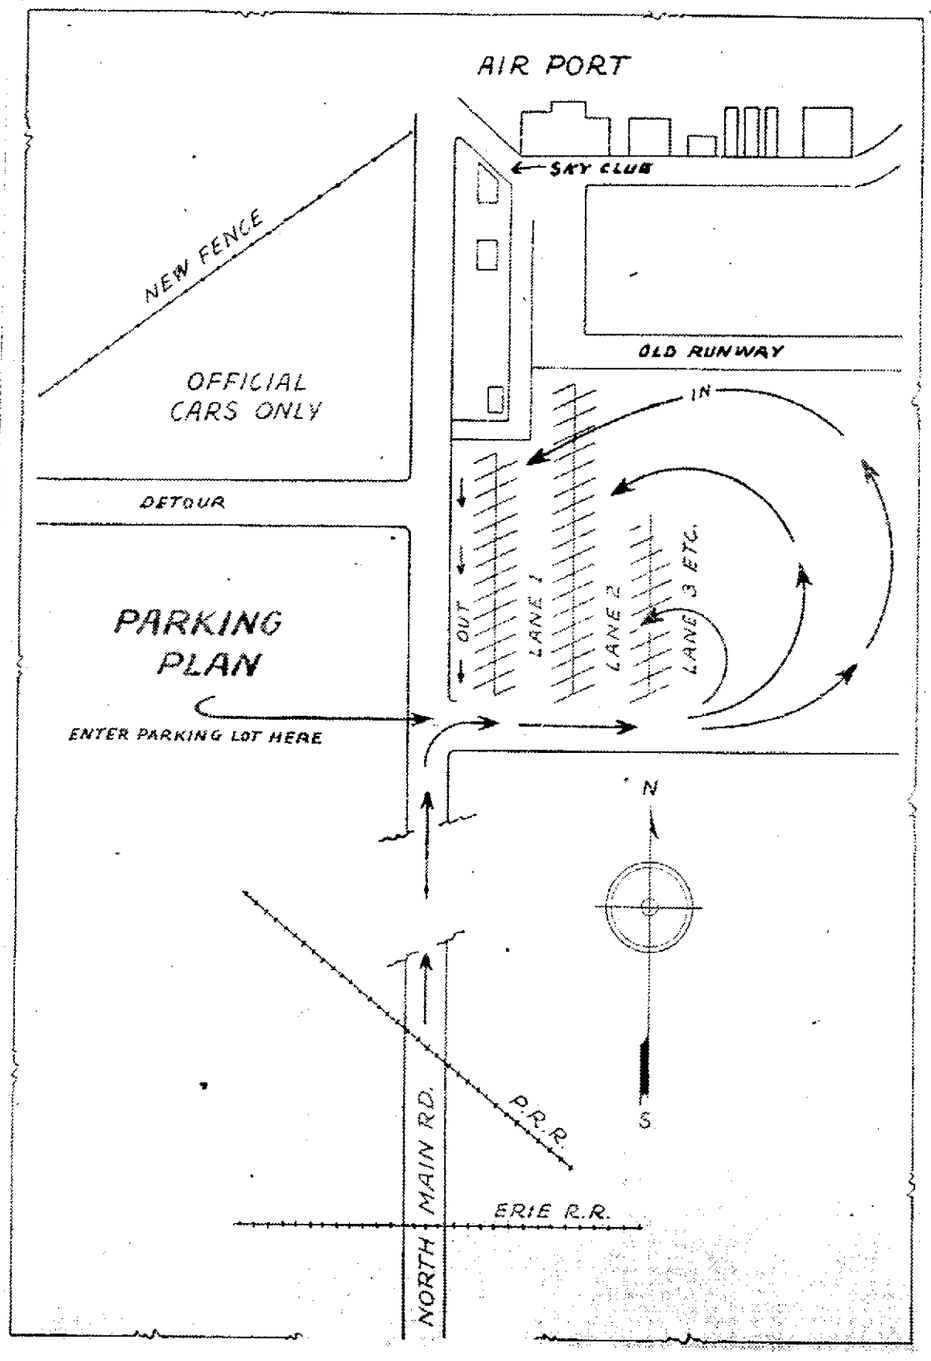
How Traffic Will Be Handled at Air Show



Arrows on the above map show how traffic will be routed and parking arranged at the airport dedication and air show Saturday and Sunday.

Plan to Park 10,000 Autos In Port Area at Dedication

Parking space has been provided for 10,000 automobiles at the Dedication and Air Show at Mansfield Municipal airport, Saturday and Sunday.

The parking area has been arranged and marked so that every car will be in a numbered lane and headed out of the area, with a lane either directly in front or directly behind his car. He can't be "blocked in." Nor will drivers be unduly delayed en route to the airport or en route home, if they follow directions of the officers.

Here are some of the things to DO to insure easiest possible access to and from the field, as outlined by Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals:

DO use North Main street to get to the airport; traffic inside the city will be expedited by eight city traffic officers, and outside the city by highway patrolmen.

DO follow instructions when you reach the airport; officers there will direct parking so that every car is headed out of the port for easy exit.

DO take as many friends and neighbors in your car as possible; anything that cuts down the number of cars on the road will help.

DO follow traffic officers' directions on the return trip, even if they send you over a side road leading off North Main; the additional distance will be short, and you'll probably get home quicker; the idea is to thin out the number of cars coming all the way in to the city over North Main.

DO remember the number of the lane your car's parked in at the airport; it will save you a lot of hunting when you're ready to come home.

* * *

Don't Try Shortcuts.

There is also a DON'T.

DON'T try to get to the airport via "shortcuts you may know about; you'll have a tough time getting into the North Main street traffic stream. Take North Main all the way. The most elaborate traffic control system the city has ever seen has been worked out by Boals, and it calls for cooperation of city police, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen, and auxiliary city police. Boals will head the city police, Sheriff Frank Robinson the deputies, Corp J. L. Bishop, the highway patrol and Hollis D. Moorhead the auxiliary groups.

On North Main street, all parking will be prohibited both days, and city officers will direct traffic at intersections and railroad crossings. The three railroads have agreed to eliminate all switching work for both days, so the only delay in traffic at crossings will be that caused by through trains, and those will be brief.

On the North Main road outside the city, the state highway patrol will have charge, with motorcycle men patrolling the roads and stationed at each crossroad.

Sheriff Robinson's deputies will handle traffic coming into the airport via the present Route 13 detour, and will also detour southbound traffic for points beyond the airport over the Bowman street road.

One-way traffic will be maintained to the airport over North Main during the rush hours early in the day, and from the airport to Mansfield during the hours when the return traffic is heaviest.

More than 300 direction markers will be placed on roads leading into Mansfield so that out-of-town visitors will be able to find their way to the airport easily.

CALLS 25,000

Draft Holiday Comes to End in September.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Major Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, took steps today to augment the army's recruiting drive by calling for induction of 25,000 selectees in September.

The call for draftees ended a two-month "draft holiday," during which the armed forces depended on voluntary enlistments to maintain or increase personnel.

The Hershey order for 25,000 men accompanied a notification to state selective service directors that regulations concerning occupational deferments would be drastically tightened up.

VOTERS REJECT LEVY

MASSILLON —(AP)— Massillon voters turned down a 1.1 mill tax levy to increase pay of non-elective city employes and purchase city equipment. Unofficial returns from yesterday's special election showed 1,021 to 838 against the levy, which required a majority to pass. The total vote was about 15 per cent of the city's registered electors.

WALL STREET TRADING DULL, TREND WAVERS

First Hour Turnover Slim as Industrials Remain Firm, But Quiet.

NEW YORK —(INS)—The stock market was a dull affair in forenoon trading today. Industrials were firm and quiet. Rails followed a mixed trend. Utilities and special issues were routine.

First hour tournover totaled a slim 140,000 shares.

In the pivotal groups Chrysler edged forward while General Motors lost an early gain. U. S. Steel dipped a fraction. Republic Steel was firm. Gains in Chesapeake and Ohio and Santa Fe were offset by losses in Baltimore and Ohio and Great Northern Pfd.

American Can jumped more than a point then tapered. Aviations, Coppers, and Foods were mixed. Utilities were steady.

Hotel Fire Routs 80 at Mt. Vernon awakened by the night clerk, found the halls filled with smoke and fashioned a chain of bed sheets to lower himself to safety from his fourth floor room.

"I slid down the sheets onto an awning at first floor level," Ritter said," and firemen helped me down from there."

Witnesses said they saw several guests jump from upper story windows. The hotel sets on a slope, which graduates it down to a four-story building in the rear.

Mrs. Cleo Holmes, a hotel employe, injured her feet in leaping to safety from a second-story window.

Second Hotel Fire.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage. The top floors of the hotel, the city's largest, were gutted by the blaze and three stores, a doctor's and dentist's offices in the building were flooded with water.

It was Mount Vernon's second major hotel fire this year. The Wisner hotel, the city's second largest, has been closed since Jan. 8 because of fire damage.

Stokes, an ex-marine, said someone reported seeing smoke at 3 a. m. and he spotted the fire in a second-floor maids' dressing room. He said an up-draft carried it quickly to the upper stories.

The night clerk said he immediately began making the rounds of the hotel's 64 rooms to warn the guests, stopping first at the room of his fiance, Miss Goodchild.

"She became hysterical as I led her from the room and I had to knock her out," he added.

Fire Chief Eugene Pickard said the cause of the fire was not determined immediately and declined to estimate damage. However, Vance Bartlett, an official of the Packard Hotel Co. which operates the Curtis, said it would approximate $100,000.

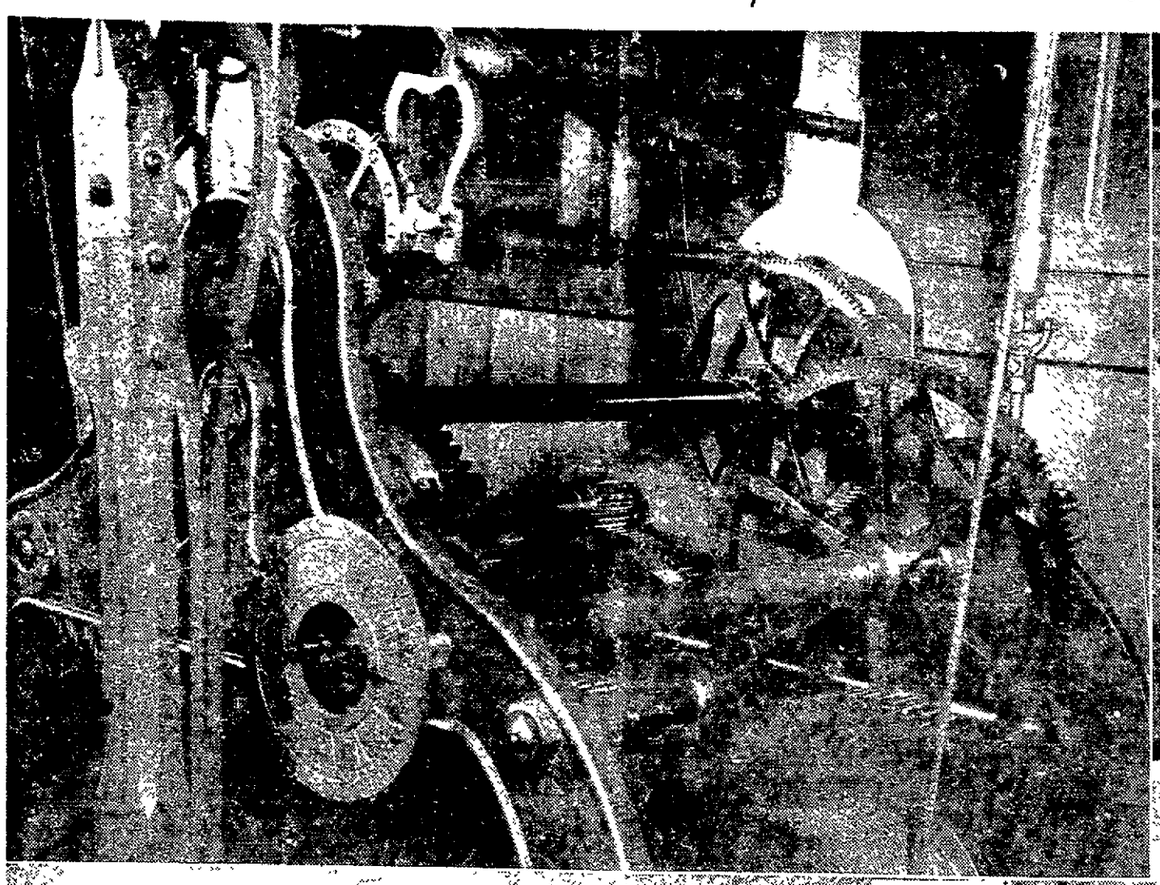
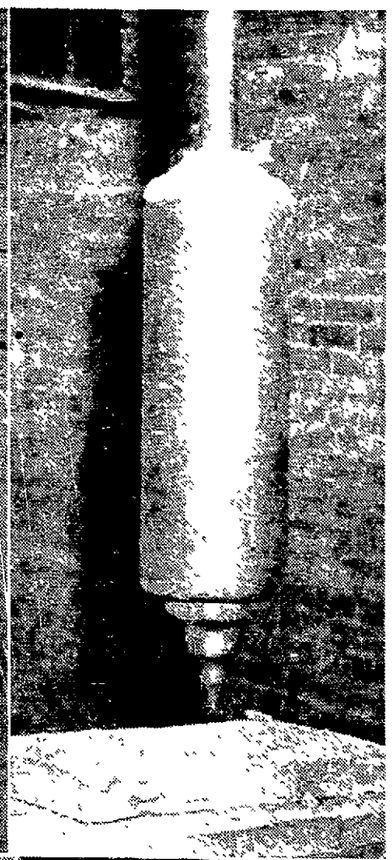
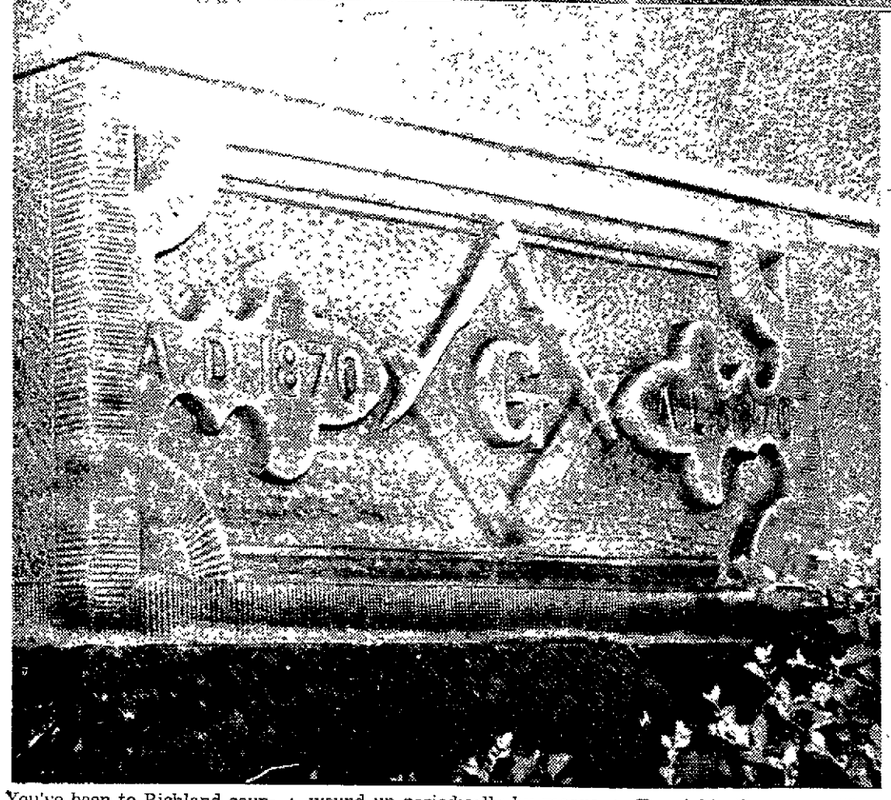
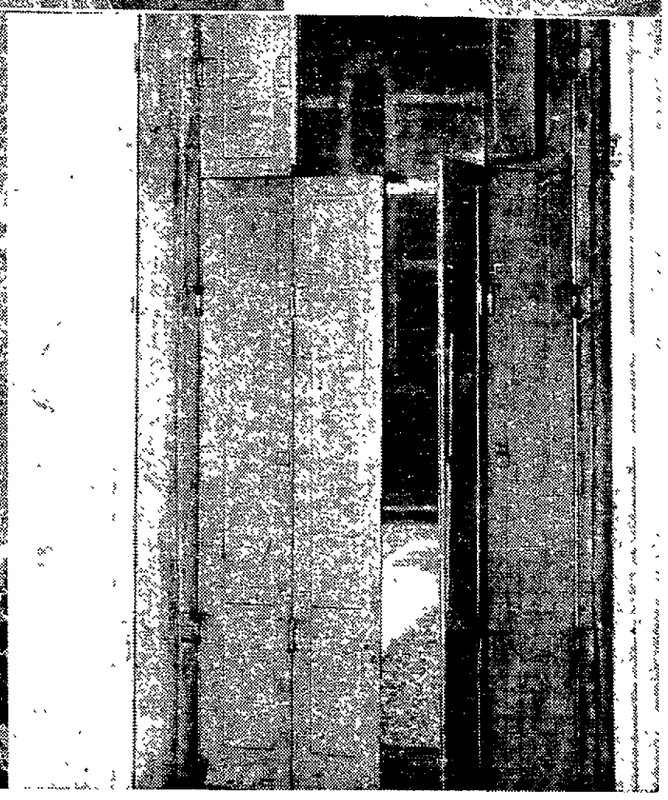
You've Been to Courthouse, But Have You Seen These?









You've been to Richland county's 76-year-old courthouse, of course, but have you ever seen these parts of it, pictured by the News-Journal's inquiring camera? They include: huge clockworks in the tower, the corner stone at the northeast corner of the building, and steel shutters still hanging in some of the windows. Top left—This well-oiled and well-preserved machinery is the works of the big clock which can be seen blocks away. It is wound up periodically by means of a huge hand crank. On the right can be seen a steel cable from which hangs the 1,200-pound weight which activates the bell announcing the hour. Top right—the camera "freezes" the huge pendulum ball, weighing 500 pounds, as it swings back and forth in the gloomy depths of the tower. Lower left —the cornerstone at the northeast corner of the building, exceptionally well-preserved and showing the date, 1870, when construction began. Lower right heavy steel shutters mask one of the windows on the ground floor, believed to have been placed as protection against potential sieges by outlaws or Indians.

Courthouse Retains Number Of 19th Century Oddities

By PHILIP GREENE

Richland county's courthouse, which an historian, ten years after it was built, said might someday be "thought old fogyish and out of style," today still retains some of the 19th century's building oddities. Too many, say officials, have to work in drafty, high-ceilinged badly planned offices.

The 76-year-old building, erected on land originally platted by James Hedges, one of the city's founders, still wears in some of its windows the heavy steel shutters believed to have been provided to withstand "sieges."

The courthouse came into being only after many birth-pangs in which "the people" voted down such a project. According to Historian A. A. Graham, "It was on three separate occasions defeated by the people."

But after a law, in 1869, was passed authorizing county commissioners to purchase grounds and build such structures as county jails and courthouses, Richland county's commissioners bought three lots from Mrs. Mary E. Reid and S. E. and J. W. Jenner for $16,500.

The land was much higher than Diamond street and Park avenue east (known then as East Market street) and it had to be graded down.

On May 10, 1870, the commissioners—David Taylor, D. M. Snyder and J. T. Keith—awarded a contract to William Miller, J. G. Frayer and Leonard Sheets to build the courthouse for $177,000.

The historian said the total cost to the taxpayers ran to $226,700 before the building was fully furnished.

Today the clock, operating hands across a six-foot dial, still moves under the pressure of a 700-pound weight which must be periodically wound up by means of a hand crank. Original cost of the clock, Graham reported, was $2,700.

Swinging back and forth with "clockwork" precision is the 500-pound pendulum ball. The $1,300 bell is struck through a timing device activated by a 1,200-pound weight.

The courthouse's corner stone, which today is still in excellent condition, was laid on Sept. 27, 1870, with the city's Mansfield and Venus lodges, F. and A. M., presiding. The Masonic order's emblem, a capital G centered between compasses and a square, was carved in the center of the stone and opposite the date of the start of construction, 1870, the lodge's symbolic date A. L. 5870, which means the Year of Light 5870, was placed.

A. F. Porter, secretary of the Mansfield lodge, explains that in Masonic orders 4,000 years are added to the current date to arrive at the "year of light, or the beginning of time."

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1946

"Liberal ideas" should not be confused with the vagaries of a liberal without ideas.

Looking back over the old files, it appears that as much as a hundred years ago, some folks were quite sure the nation was "going to the dogs."

Incensed by the likelihood that Bilbo will remain in the senate, one hot-head suggests that "Mississippi should be read out of the Union"—failing to recall, perhaps, that Mississippians once had the same idea.

Interest Centers In Airport Dedication

ONE HUNDRED years ago a railroad train was a novelty in Mansfield; fifty years ago Mansfielders had not yet been amazed by arrival of the first locally-owned automobile; twenty-five years ago only an occasional glimpse was caught of an airplane overhead.

Now all three of these methods of transportation are accepted as commonplace, and Mansfield is again taking the forward step of providing adequate facilities for the aviation era into which the world has been gradually, but surely, projected.

This week Mansfield is in the midst of preparations for what may well be regarded as the most elaborate dedicatory ceremonies ever conducted in this community, with statewide interest aroused by the pattern that will thus be furnished many other Ohio cities which are looking forward to similar projects in the future.

Saturday and Sunday will give opportunity for the residents of this north-central Ohio area to become better acquainted with the appearance and performance of planes of all kinds and sizes, with demonstrations by notable figures in the field of aviation.

From then on the Mansfield airport will become a regular part of this community's activities—but it will probably be quite awhile before the novelty wears off, or interest lags in its further development and increased use.

Another Offer of Gold Mine Stocks

BY COINCIDENCE (perhaps) a number of Mansfielders who were recently required to turn in their interest-bearing preferred stock in a locally represented utility company now find themselves on the mailing lists of a Toronto, Canada, stock brokerage firm which is heralding the merits of Canadian gold mine stocks.

It is rather convincingly proclaimed that "buyers of selected Canadian gold stocks have coralled millions of dollars in speculative profits over the past three years," and "there is every reason to believe that another and probably greater gold mining boom is already in the making."

All of which may sound very alluring—except to those whose memory extends back to the rooking that many people in this community have suffered at one time or another by similar schemes to gyp the public.

A mailing list of persons who are known to have received money by compulsory cashing-in of utility stocks naturally provides a fertile field for such an approach—but it is advised that full investigation be made of any speculative offer, however convincingly it may be presented, before risking any surplus money on promises of big profits.

If opportunities for even a fair return on safe investments are available nowadays they would be snapped up in a hurry—with no need to invite inquiry from people whose names happen to find their way onto a "sucker list."

Can Surplus Home Garden Products

THIS is being called "National Home Food Preservation Week," probably to give more than ordinary emphasis to the importance of canning as much as possible of the products of home gardens—for at present prices relatively few people can afford to buy anything to can.

Many people, however, have continued the war-time practice of raising needed vegetables in home gardens and a majority of these will probably have a surplus for canning.

Victory gardeners and home canners realize that the hard work required to grow and can food at home pays off in the saving of many dollars—even more dollars, if prices continue to advance.

They also know, from war-time experience, that the jars of home-processed vegetables and fruits are safeguards against shortages and inflation. They know, too, that the time spent this summer in replenishing the home larder, will give assurance that they will have something to eat next winter, regardless of what happens to OPA and prices.

Food preservation is also "self preservation"—can all you can.

Shelby To Resume Its Street Fair

ANNOUNCEMENT that Shelby is to resume its traditional "street fair," after a four-year lapse because of the war, arouses memories of the popularity of such community affairs in many small cities and towns in the past. "The Feast of Ceres," as it was conducted here shortly after the turn of the century, having been Mansfield's final approach to the street fair idea.

For better or worse, a city finally becomes too large—and traffic too heavy—for exhibition of farm products and carnival attractions in the business area, but Shelby is still within the scope of such a community enterprise and is to be complimented on developing the Junior Chamber of Commerce leadership which is taking the initiative in reviving the street fair this year.

Education In 'Manners' Neglected

ELLERY SEDGWICK, former editor of the Atlantic Monthly, has an article in the current issue of that magazine about his boarding school days at Groton. In the mellow reminiscences, part of a longer autobiography to be published shortly, Mr. Sedgwick says boys in those days, the late '89's, were taught manners, "which I still think as important as anything a boy can learn. They were not mere company manners, clean collars, ungrimed hands and a smile for the visitor. They went below the surface. Manners, if not a substitute for virtue, at least make every virtue shine."

Parents might well take a leaf from this notebook. A youth who has courtesy and graciousness as an integral part of himself will find them a lubricant of living, an easement in his everyday dealings.

THE LITTLE FELLOW JUST CAN'T REACH IT

New Ambassador to China Was Appointed At Urgent Request of General Marshall.

WASHINGTON—Here's the inside story on the sudden appointment of John Leighton Stuart as the new American ambassador to China. Originally, President Truman planned to appoint Lieut. Gen. Al Wedemeyer ambassador to China. As a mater of fact, Wedemeyer's nomination had already been typed and was on the president's desk.

However, last week General Marshall sent Truman an urgent cable advising that he had finally found one man who could act as ambassador and who was on good terms with both the Communists and the Chiang Kai-shek group. Marshall also pointed out that Stuart had lived in China for 50 years and spoke fluent Chinese.

So, 24 hours later, President Truman nominated J. Leighton Stuart to be American ambassador to China.

Truman Gets His Man.

It was the direct hand of the president of the United States which brought the kiss of death to Roger C. Slaughter of Kansas City, Democratic congressman from the district next to Truman's. Slaughter has opposed almost every piece of Truman legislation before congress.

Despite denials from Democratic headquarters, here's what actually happened. President Truman last month wrote to Bryce B. Smith, a former mayor of Kansas City, stating that something had to be done regarding the fifth congressional race and that the election of Slaughter was absolutely impossible.

The chief executive added that he would rather see a Republican elected than have Slaughter returned to congress. He asked Smith to confer with James M. Pendergast, head of the county's "goat" faction.

Pendergast was hard to find, but after three days Smith finally caught up with him.

"Why should I do anything like that?" Pendergast snorted. "Truman has done nothing for me."

Smith reported this back to the White House, and a few days later received a second letter from Truman who said that probably what Pendergast meant was that the president hadn't done anything for him "lately." Truman then sent a note direct to Pendergast and asked him point-blank whether he was for Slaughter or the president of the United States.

The note brought results. Pendergast hopped a plane and was in Washington next day. After he returned, Democratic leaders learned that the "goat" faction of the Democratic party would back Enos Axtell, former assistant county prosecutor for congress.

The "rabbit" Democrats, headed by Frank Shannon, several months ago indicated they would support Jerome Walsh, former OPA attorney who has strong labor support. Most "rabbit" leaders, however, none too strong for labor, favor backing Axtell.

Note—The Democrats in Kansas City long have been divided into rival groups—the goats and the rabbits.

Argentine Atom Bombs.

The Fascist Argentine government has just completed elaborate plans for going into the atomic-bomb business on a scale parallel to that of the United States.

The Argentine scientific association has proposed and received the approval of the Argentine war and navy departments to finance the importation and operations of the best nuclear physicists in the world, including German refugees.

The Argentine government is guaranteeing these scientists unlimited funds, complete scientific liberty, and absolute personal security from police terror. The head of one important Argentine scientific group informed the Peron government that Nazi scientists are doing well but are still not operating rapidly enough to satisfy the Argentines.

Latins Protest to Byrnes.

Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes returned from Paris to find his office literally bombarded with protests from Latin-American diplomats against the concessions Byrnes made to Russia at the foreign ministers' conference in Paris.

The Latins have been virtually unanimous in protesting to Byrnes against what they call the "harsh armistice" imposed upon Italy.

Both Argentina and Brazil have made protests. Top state department officials see the hand of the vatican behind the Latin move for Italian apeasement.

Capital Chaff.

President Truman will appoint TVA Director David Lillienthal to head the presidential atomic commission being set up under the McMahon bill. . . . the unexpected death of Sidney Hillman was costly to a number of Republican congressmen and senators. Tons of campaign literature attacking Hillman personally will now have to be destroyed, and various candidates who have built their campaigns around smearing Hillman must begin all over again.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

MR TRUMAN'S statement that "our people are earning more money than ever before" put three auditors on my books but they couldn't find it.

* * *

The president confused sober statement with an old gag . . . The gag ran "Me and my boss make five hundred a week between us . . . he gets 475 and I get 25."

* * *

If "our people are earning more money than ever before" some of "our people" haven't heard about it.

* * *

I know a school teacher who has been telling children for 20 years how Washington crossed the Delaware. She's got him across safely 20 time sand she still hasn't got a raise.

* * *

Millions of fixed salary workers can testify that they aren't earning more money . . . maybe the president spoke from notes written on the back of an old letter from Phil Murray.

* * *

Some of "our people" are earning more money than ever before . . . others are eatin' less than ever before.

Timely Editorial

Another Racket Bared.

There has always been a certain type of parasite who preys upon the bereaved. While grief still clouds the judgment of surviving relatives or friends, this racketeer appears with some reasonably plausible device which victimizes them, usually for some small amount. But so many persons have been caught by such tricks, the overall loot runs into thousands of dollars.

The latest of these schemes has for its target the relatives of members of the armed forces buried in temporary military cemeteries overseas. They are asked to pay a fee to an individual, or join an organization, offering special assistance or information regarding graves or cemeteries overseas."

Actually, such information is furnished free by the army's quartermaster general for the asking. This agency is responsible for the return and final burial of World War II dead and its facilities are available to relatives of all overseas dead. It can tell all about burial plans, grave locations and other data.—Ohio State Journal.

Penicillin for Bronchial Disorders.

SOMETIMES, science gets a good idea and then has to wait a hundred years for it to pay off.

That's the way it has been in the treatment of bronchial and lung infections, with vapor. What could be more natural when disease exists in the organs of breathing than to think of curing it by having the patient breathe in a vapor containing some healing substance?

It's a splendid idea, this one of bringing a healer in such direct contact with diseased parts with so little trouble. It's a natural and medical men of more than a century ago thought it up.

Ever since, other medical men have been playing around with the same thought without getting much further forward.

Heavy Droplets.

The droplets of medicine were so heavy that they fell almost at once on the lining membranes of structures in the upper part of the breathing apparatus, windpipe and voice-box.

Recently, however, methods have been found of giving a vapor so fine that it can reach the deepest portions of the lungs and so half of the problem was solved, but physicians still lacked a really powerful drug which could be used in this way.

Then along came penicillin and at long last the doctors had what looked like a winning combination. Preliminary reports indicate that it is going to prove " good in practice as it looked in theory.

According to Dr. Allan Hurst of Denver, there is still no definite agreement as to what the best dose of penicillin is for such treatment. In some instances as little as 1,000 units a day have been given with success while as much as 50,000 units every three or four hours has also been used with similarly good results.

Treating Lung Disorders.

He tried out this method of treatment in a group of patients with a number of different lung disorders. The penicillin was administered by passing oxygen through a solution containing 50,000 units of penicillin in one cubic centimeter of salt solution.

Patients treated with the penicillin in the form of a vapor, breathed directly into the lungs, were benefited to a great extent, in most instances. The amount of sputum was reduced, fever when present was overcome and coughing and tightness in the chest also were benefited.

Patients with asthma, a condition in which there are wheezing, tightness in the chest and coughing were also helped in many instances by this treatment.

It would appear that this type of treatment is worth trying in many cases.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

"Tuna-Tossing Time" In Pacific Northwest.

ASTORIA, Ore.—Trying to get folks in this historic fishing town to talk about world affairs right now is a tough task.

It isn't that they're not interested. They are. And they have plenty of opinions . . . about whether Jap fishermen should be permitted to infest American offshore waters again . . . about how any future price regulations should pay more attention to the problems of the Pacific fisherman . . . about how Europe shouldn't be allowed to export fish products to the United States for sale when we're giving European countries, through UNRRA, such things as wheat and pork chops, free!

But right now, they're all a little too busy to waste much time talking—for it's tuna tossing time again.

And from mid-July until mid-October, Astoria fisherman will concentrate on catching the albacore, or white-fleshed, tuna which has congregated in large schools off the Pacific northwest coast each summer since the middle thirties.

But the method that they use looks more like a farmer pitching hay than a fisherman at work.

It is the result of some ten years of trial-and-error testing of tuna fishing methods—varying from jig to seining systems—and includes the use of live bait and iron fishing racks over the boatside.

The "Mylark," skippered by W. E. Duggen, short, chunky fisherman of some 15 years' experience, is typical of the tuna fleet now swinging into action.

A 50-foot dragboat with a 25-ton carrying capacity, the Mylark recently has been drag-fishing for rockfish, flounder and the like. Now, however, she's being rigged with the live-bait tank and fishing racks. Three more fishermen will be added to the drag-fish crew of three, and the Mylark will sail through the mouth of the Columbia river, some 250 miles out to sea.

"Then we start watching blackbirds," Duggen said. "They always hang around the tuna schools to get small fish the albacore are chasing to the surface."

Once a school is sighted, the Mylark will sail into the middle of it, dumping overboard live anchovies by the netful from the live-bait tank.

Then the fishermen, specialists all, stand in the iron racks over the Mylark's side, and "start pitching."

Each has a ten-foot bamboo pole with a six-foot line—and they actually disengage the fish from the barbless hook while still in the air!

"We have to do that for speed," Duggen said. "The school may not stay with us more than a couple of minutes, and you have to learn how to snap the hook out in the air so the fish will land on the deck behind you—while you're going after another one."

If it's a good albacore season, the average tuna-pitcher or crewman can make from $5,000 to $6,000, varying according to price. Duggen said during 1944, the top tuna year, crewman averaged about $8,000.

Which is eight thousand good reasons why Astoria fishermen are too busy tuning up for the tuna season to waste time talking of world affairs. Time enough for that in the fall!

Army Control of Atom Bomb Demanded.

WASHINGTON — Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! Bring in the prisoners, the young men of science from Oak Ridge, Tenn., the young men with a bomb on their brains like a festering tumor. Let them be shackled with chains forged of true steel, far stronger than the conscience of mankind.

Let them walk in slow and measured tread, lockstep, with a ball to hobble their young feet. Let them hang their heads meekly, with eyes downcast to the floor.

And let the crier go before them and call out in the voice of doom:

"Shame! Shame! Shame!"

And let a guard of husky young men of the army surround them, bayonets fixed.

If you please, your honor, let Ernie Adamson, counsel of the house committee on un-American activities, read the indictment and proceed with this awful case.

Go ahead, Mr. Adamson, with your indictment.

"That these Oak Ridge societies are composed of young men classified as scientific researchers or engineers." (Shame on them, shame on science!)

"The activities of these societies are devoted to the creation of some form of world government." (Horrendous! That puts them in a class with Bernard M. Baruch and Owen J. Roberts, who once sat on the supreme court, and a man named Harry S. Truman.)

"These societies are very active in support of international civilian control of the manufacture of atomic materials." (Shame on them, and shame on Harry S. Truman, and Secretary of State Byrnes, and Bernard M. Baruch again, and the leaders of England and Canada and France and Russia and Australia and all the other United Nations. Shame!)

"The officers whose statements we have taken not only admit communication with persons outside the United States, but in substance say they intend to continue this practice." (Lock them away on bread and water, with no pen and ink handy.)

"The security ofifcers at Oak Ridge think that the peace and security of the United States is definitely in danger." (The military, then, is still the military, age without end.)

"One of the most surprising comments was an expression from one of the young scientists to the effect that the power of the atomic bomb was much greater from a political viewpoint than from its physical aspect." (Something must be done, gentlemen, about James F. Byrnes and Bernard M. Baruch, too, ere this day's business is over.)

"My conclusion, based upon the investigation up to date, is that the army should exercise permanent control over the manufacture of atomic weapons." (Bring the senate of the United States before the bar. It must be tried, too. It voted against army control. Traitorous!)

The case is completed, thank you, Mr. Adamson. Take the prisoners away. They are guilty.

More About Nazi Intrigue In U. S.

WASHINGTON—Six years ago, this nation was on the eve of perhaps the bitterest campaign in our political history. The issue was isolation or intervention, acceptance of Nazi domination in the west or a challenge to that domination.

As a Washington reporter for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, I had spent many days and nights running down intrigues that seemed to lead to direct German intervention in our domestic affairs. But I could never pin down the missing piece of evidence, which was the direct use of Nazi money to influence a political decision in this country.

Now that missing piece has come to light. It was uncovered in the course of the brilliant investigation directed by O. John Rogge for the department of justice in occupied Germany.

The key figure was the late William Rhodes Davis, the American oil man whose plots and counterplots were beyond any fiction. I wrote columns about the ins and outs of Davis' deals aimed at helping to supply oil to the Nazis. But always, pieces of the puzzle were missing.

Now three top Nazis—Hermann Goering, Herbert von Strempel, formerly of the German embassy in Washington, and Joachim Hertslet, who was Goering's agent in the western hemisphere — have separately told the same story.

It began when von Strempel was asked what was the single most important Nazi propaganda development in this country. He replied promptly that it was in the fall of 1939 when Hertslet come to him in the German embassy in Washington to announce that he had at least $5,000,000 in the United States to spend in defeating Roosevelt if the president should seek a third term.

Von Strempel was skeptical. He was not familiar with Hertslet's operations in this hemisphere. But a call to Berlin quickly assured him that Hartslet was Goering's No. 1 man and that he could deliver the goods.

Hertslet's call on von Strempel grew out of conferences which Davis had held with Goering in the spring of that same year. They discussed ways and means of preventing a third term for Roosevelt. Davis boasted of friendship with John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, and told Goering he could persuade Lewis to come out actively against Roosevelt.

Just how much Nazi money passed through Davis' hands is not known. One figure given was $449,000. Asked if $5,000,000 was the amount spent against Roosevelt, Goering said indignantly: "Five million! We were prepared to spend from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 to achieve that end."

As the Willkie-Roosevelt race drew to a bitter climax, Davis was credited, in stories written at the time, with persuading Lewis to come out openly for Willkie instead of merely condemning both candidates.

Davis was also credited with supplying up to $60,000 of the total cost of Lewis dramatic broadcast in which he denounced Roosevelt and asked labor to vote for Willkie. Later, Davis told a grand jury he had contributed more than $40,000 to the Willkie campaign. One of his associates announced he had put up $100,000 for an anti-war committee.

What was Davis' motive in these devious intrigues? That is what I want to try to show in a subsequent column giving more of the background of this fantastic story.

Farmer's Diary: "In Work Clothes."

I WAS TIRED and hot. My work clothes were wet with sweat, and I sat down wearily beneath our maple trees and opened a magazine. (It was the August American.) A picture attracted me. Not in color—that was the one below it. This one was just a plain black and white snapshot of a man and his wife—he with overalls like mine, and his hands on a garden plow. His wife, in a plain work dress, leaning on a hoe. Below, the fine print said, "Lily Queen: Mrs. May Stafford and her husband, Lucius, work the richest pay dirt in the lily fields . . . last year made over $100,000."

So I read the piece . . . about a boom in growing Easter lilies in the Pacific Northwest. The boom had started when Japan-grown lilies were no longer available in wartime . . . but before that time, a certain Mr. Croft had noticed two stubby strong lily plants among his little group at the corner of his yard, and had experimented—keeping the bulbs from those of the hardy strain, and sharing with his neighbors his knowledge of how to grow them.

The boom still goes on — and when white lilies are plentiful enough, to become less profitable, there is promise of pastel colored lilies—for research has been busy.

I went on a trip through Oregon once. I remember the rugged powerful beauty of that scenery—and the logging roads winding along to some lumberman's shack. I remember the smell of the forest mingled with the breath of the ocean—and the "topsided, unpainted" farmhouses.

I remember the pioneer spirit that persisted in cropping up among those who lived there—most of them immigrants from "back east" . . . many of them interested in my Ohio license.

I drew a long breath as I finished the piece, and turned back again to the photograph—and then I smiled with a sudden new knowledge. I had not noticed it before, but the bright-faced, plain woman in working clothes—the Lily Queen of Oregon—was on her knees.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON—Donald Nelson, non-graying, brown-eyed, portly head of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, formerly the New Deal's "favorite busines man," recently turned down an offer from Uncle Sam.

He was proffered the job of War Assets Administrator when Lt. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory resigned. It is just about the first time that Nelson, ever ready to aid the Democratic party, has said "no."

Quietly tendered the world's biggest selling job, Nelson, who once upon a time was president of Sears, Roebuck, the huge mail order house, said of the offer:

"The job's too big a headache."

Nelson just doesn't want any more government jobs. His last was as chairman of the War Production board.

Although he is a famed merchandiser, he confided to friends he didn't want to take on the job of disposing of billions of dollars worth of war surplus commodities—a job from which four able men have resigned within the past two years.

Nelson was in Washington after a visit to New York, where he was winding up details for publication of his new book, "Arsenal of Democracy," due to appear on the bookstalls in September.

With his attractive bride, a blond campus queen of George Washington university in 1939, Nelson is living out on the west coast.

Bad guess: A. Ford Hinrichs, retiring acting labor statistics bureau commissioner, discloses he tried to head off, right after V-J day, the War Manpower commission's exaggerated prediction of 6,000,000 unemployed by January 1, 1946.

"I am sorry," Hinrichs wrote Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach in resigning his post, "that you did not succeed in your efforts to squelch this bad guess."

Hinrichs quit as a result of his wartime row with labor over how much the cost of living was rising.

One reason for the big shortage in table china is that about 80 percent of America's pre-war dinner sets, were made in Japan.

Another 15 percent came from England and two percent from other foreign countries. American makers only got the three percent remaining.

A new organization—the District of Columbia state council of the National Society of Patriotic Women—has just been formed in the nation's capital.

As one club editor put it:

"Patriotic women of Washington will not surrender their patriotic ideals and their precepts of loyalty, no matter how sweet are the siren songs of women preaching new doctrines which they consider detrimental to national safety and preparedness."

WCTU Chapter Has Picnic In Pavilion Tuesday

The Frances Willard chapter of WCTU held an annual picnic in the North Lake park pavilion Tuesday noon with the regular business meeting following. Rev. Harley Bennett presented the devotions from the Book of Daniel.

Devotional readings were given by Mrs. Mary Huht followed by hymns and a brief talk by the president, Mrs. J. H. Stottler, who also presided at the business session.

A nominating committee was appointed for the August meeting when election of officers will be held. The committee is as follows. Mrs. Camp Smeltzer, Mrs. R. C. Tingley and Mrs. Clark Loos.

A county picnic and institute will be held at the Shelby park July 23 at 6:30 p. m. and the state convention will be held in Columbus from Sept. 3-6.

Mrs. Essie Bell will be hostess at the Aug. 20 meeting of the chapter at her home, 65 Mendota street, at 2 p. m.

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

"No matter what names you call a woman, don't ever refer to her weight. You can reflect on her integrity and she'll forgive you, but if you refer to her poundage, you'll start a war all over again." Anyway, that's been the experience of Magistrate Mark Rudich of New York.

From this corner I can see there is something in what he says. When I first applied my dietetics to weight control, I used to step right in where judges fear to tread and guilelessly ask an acquaintance her height and how much she weighed. You'd have thought I was asking her age! Now I seldom ask anyone's weight, with the exception of the movie gals, and they of course never tip the scales too heavily. The touchy subject with them is age, unless they are under 16. So I never, even by innuendo, refer to that subject.

Perhaps it's the age question that is the catch on telling weight. The charts on the weighing machines let the pounds pile up with birthdays, so women blame the pounds on the birthdays and refuse to tell either.

You rarely hear a woman remark, "For my age I'm supposed to weigh . . ." And that's a good thing because after 25 you are not supposed to weigh more. So, if you are 25 or over forget your birthdays and keep your healthy 25-year-old-weight for the next 25 years, and the next . . . after that you'll get a little lighter.

Another misleading thing about the so called standard weight charts is that all figures of the same height are lumped together. Weight can't be standardized according to height alone. A heavy-set woman of 5'5" with a wide frame and big bones is entitled to more weight, perhaps 20 pounds more, than the slightly built woman of the same height. Structure is inherited. Boney structure can't be changed, and therefore that is the basis for figuring normal weight.

Here is an ideal Weight For Women Chart, for women 25 and over, based on structure. This chart was worked out by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. It's the best chart I've come across.

In comparing your weight with the chart, take the height you are with shoes, allowing about 2 pounds for shoes. These weights include ordinary clothing, which is usually about 4 pounds above a person's stripped weight. This chart is for women. Next week I'll give the chart for men.

IDEAL WEIGHTS FOR WOMEN—AGES 25 AND OVER

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, July 18.

Tumult, tension, rash judgment and reckless or erratic action may have power to create an explosive and "atomic" state of affairs, which will suddenly and decisively uproot, blast, and disintegrate, with devastating and far-reaching effect.

This upheaval threatens business, fortunes, home and romantic conditions, and all cherished objectives, with unpredictable crises.

The best advice is to sit tight, keep calm, and wait for the cyclone to temper or pass over. Seek shelter in inner fortresses.

Those whose birthday it is are advised to take affairs in hand, with calm, considered and definitely controlled composure, with mind, emotions and impulses rigidly leashed. There is danger of the sudden and breath taking precipitation of current events or unpredictable situations which may prove disintegrating, radical and hectic, shaking affairs to foundations, aggravated by rash judgment, reckless actions and erratic behavior generally.

Do not attempt to tilt against the inevitable by wild gestures or intemperate moves.

A child born on this day may have a dynamic, energetic and high-tensioned make-up, bespeaking an explosive career.

Locals hear that giantess Lois De Fee, who did it once before, is all set to waltz down the aisle with another midget . . . Britisher Rex Harrison has denied the rumors about his becoming an American citizen and making only U. S pictures. He has a contractual obligation to fill with Arthur Rank . . . Composer Marc Blitzstein is making no secret of his crush on Hildegarde. They met recently and his feet haven't touched the ground since . . . COURT TO DECIDE FUTURE OF LUCAS PHONE COMPANY

Hearing on Firm Once Owned By Louis Bromfield Set For July 29.

LUCAS—The future of the Lucas Telephone company may be decided in common pleas court at 9 a. m. Monday, July 29.

That date has been set for the hearing on the law suit involving the company whose status has hung in the balance since the stockholders company that organized it disbanded two years ago. Since then it has passed through many hands including those of Lucas' author-farmer, Louis Bromfield, who was the owner for several months. At one time long distance service was suspended for alleged non-payment of fees.

Letters concerning the hearing today were sent along with bills to subscribers. The letters, which also invite subscribers ideas to the solution of community telephone problems, were prepared by Weldon and Huston, Mansfield attorneys for W. E. Darling, receiver.

This is the second occasion the receivers have addressed subscribers of the company. Several months ago letters were mailed offering prospects of sale to a larger company, and its attendant advantages if rates could be advanced to the satisfaction of such a company and the Public Utilities corporation, and a receivership formed until such a transaction could be negotiated.

The rates were raised, accordingly, and Darling named the receiver, but no sales was effected. Prospective buyers feared they would be embarrassed by the complaints arising from shortage of labor and supplies. There still are no prospective buyers.

Outcome of the hearing may be an issuance of an order of sale. What may follow is as uncertain as the company's whole history has been.

Buckeye Lockers Asks Galion For More Police Protection

GALION—A request for more police protection from the Buckeye Frozen Lockers whose establishment was robbed of several hundred dollars Sunday night was among business discussed by the City Council Tuesday night.

Councilmen reported that there had been a number of complaints regarding high water bills, and asked for an investigation of the matter.

A letter from John Vossers asked council for payment of a claim of $5,000, to cover losses to his celery farm and truck gardens, caused by the backing of water from Whetstone creek into the celery land. This was referred to Service Director K. A. Poister.

The letter from the Buckeye Frozen Lockers requested that more city patrolmen be hired to give better protection to businesses in the city. The letter was placed on file.

An ordinance, which had its second reading, would grant permission to Malo Brothers to construct a spur track through the Erie railroad property from the Malo place of business on South street to the east right-of-way on the New York Central tracks.

Seven property owners, asking for an alley to provide entrance to their lots, requested Service Director Poister to contact another owner who has refused to grant permission to have the alley opened. The alley runs parallel to East Church street, and is north of East Church street from North Pierce street to the first alley east of North Pierce street.

Butter Continues to Pile Up In Ashland Dairies, Stores

ASHLAND - - Butter continues to pile up in Ashland dairies and stores as housewives stage an unorganized but effective strike against current butter prices.

The boost from 67 to 80 cents per pound met with a decrease in the demand, with one dairy estimating its stock at 500 pounds and another at 1,000 pounds. Chain stores also revealed a piling up of butter stock as purchasers demanded margarine or nothing at all.

Best Fire Equipment In State Shelby Chief Replies to Club

Fire Chief Eugene Schull today verbally denied the accusations that Shelby fire department equipment was in poor shape, made by M. E. Berkley in behalf of the Better Business club.

Chief Schull said that the Shelby fire department had the best equipment in this part of the state.

The Better Business club presented a resolution to the city council Monday recommending that firemen have more practice runs, volunteer firemen be given more and better instruction, and regular firemen be schooled in the most recent techniques of fire fighting; that inspection of buildings in the fire district be conducted more regularly; that the firemen be provided with smoke masks, and that the two-hour parking be enforced.

Mr. Berkley said that the firemen had stated at a recent fire that they had no smoke masks. Chief Schull said the local fire department had the best smoke masks available and doubted anyone in his department had made such a statement.

Chief Schull also said that regular fire inspections of the business places are made and put the blame on "curbstone" firemen for the reports.

"Shelby has an extremely low per capita fire loss," Chief Schull said in denying the accusations. He agreed that the schooling would be a good thing provided the city would stand the cost of such a project.

Council had in previous years passed legislation providing for the volunteer firemen to receive a dollar for each session of schooling and not more than one session to be held each month.

No action was taken by council in the absence of Mayor F. C. Long. Acting chairman, Ross Sipes, councilman at large, advised Mr. Berkley to leave the resolution with Mayor Long.
